

We do as we please but should express the nobility in man and not walk as though we have developed from the beast who walked on all fours. Man follows fashion & custom in all things but the dancer must do as he pleases with the object of being a dancer. So he stands correctly.